public may wish we had more snow, from the Road Department, it was a nice change. However, we do need to have more freezing weather to assist the environment with eliminating some pesky bugs in the

Q. What is your memory of snow in the mountains growing up?

A. I do not ever remember having any 65 degree weather in the winter. It seems like it was always just cold until Spring. Growing up in Union County, we just about always had several inches of snow each year. Back in the 60's and 70's, Richard Russell Highway would often be snow and ice covered several times in the winter. Crowds of people would ascend up the mountain in jeeps to ride their sleds and car hoods down the two mile thrilling ride to the bottom of the mountain. While I recall a few injuries, it was an unbelievable ride going about 40 mph on a sled only 6" above the road surface. Wow!

Q. Can you still ride a sled down Richard Russell Highway in the winter?

A. Eventually, USFS

stopped vehicles from going up on the mountain during bad weather, but it was a blast back in the day. However, rarely is there enough snow or ice on this road for sledding even if it were allowed.

Q. Was there another major winter weather event you recall from growing up here?

A. Oh yes!! It was the Blizzard of '93. On March 13th, 1993, it snowed 28" and more in some areas, which was the largest snow event anyone can remember. There was another snow storm in 1941 (way before I was born), when it snowed 20".

I remember that we had about 15 people from the neighborhood sleeping in our house for a few days because we had gas heat and gas hot water. Electricity was out in the county for 7 days to 10 days and longer in the remote areas. However, our telephone never quit working.

I also remember the story of Major Leon Davenport, our hospital administrator, walking to work from his home about 3 miles to the hospital in two feet of snow, to assist his staff who could not leave the hospital.

point, he immediately stopped the sermon and said, "Let us pray." After the prayer, everyone looked back toward the pulpit and noticed that Ronald had removed his jacket and tied it around his waist. The young preacher looked as if he were wearing a kilt. He went on to finish a fine sermon. The next morning, Ronald went down to Chattanooga and purchased a new and larger pair of pants.

Not long after this episode of the splitting pants, a man in our community died. As you know, part of being a minister is being of comfort to those in a congregation that suffer the loss of a loved one. So, upon hearing of the death, my Dad called his new assistant Pastor, Ronald.

The young man agreed to meet Dad to go and visit the family. Ronald and Dad drove to the house and were met at the front door by the grieving widow and her sons. Dad and Ronald walked into the bedroom, and the man was lying on the bed with his leg and arm hanging off the bed. Dad directed Ronald to turn the man's arm and leg over on the bed. In the meantime, Dad would comfort Miss Polly.Dad walked into the other room and was praying with the family when he heard a scream. Dad ran into the bedroom. Ronald had tried to turn over the dead man's arm and leg and thought he was successful. However, he bent over to tie his shoe when the dead man's body tried to return back to the original position. This action caused the body to fall on top of our friend. Ronald and the dead man's body were entangled on the floor, and each time he pushed it off, the arm of the dead man would fall back onto the face of the young man.

Ronald is still afraid of dead people, though he went on to become a Doctor of Theology and teaches at a large school in Kentucky. But, each time I hear him preach, my mind goes back to his split pants and the dead man.

you have some weak looking canes, thin out the buds to prevent over fruiting, which can cause permanent bending of canes from the weight.

Each year after harvest is completed cut plants back so that they don't become too tall. Tall plants are more difficult to harvest, except for bears and birds.

substances, lack of interest in school participation and frequent alienation of others. Prevention programs that address substance use and high-risk sexual behaviors are proven to be more effective than programs that just focus on substance abuse or just focus on high risk sexual behaviors. These programs include individuals, peers, families, schools and communities.

Prevention strategies that are successful in reducing teen risk include multiple prevention activities in different areas of the teen's life. School based programs that focus on social skills and emotional awareness are fundamental to teaching students how to manage peer pressure. Peer led drug and alcohol resistance programs like Students Against Destructive Decisions, offers a safe social circle that practices low risk behaviors. Parenting programs that offer support and skills for dealing with difficult teen behaviors and programs that encourage parental engagement is another invaluable tool in reducing engagement in substance use and high-risk sexual behavior. Finally, family support programs that address the needs of each family member. When students have a supportive school environment and their parents are actively engaged in their lives, they are less likely to engage in high risk behaviors.
