

Fire Station 10 hosts Open house

Fire Station 10, on Jones Street in downtown Blairsville, opened its doors to the public last Saturday.

Lt. Daniel Byrd and his squad gave safety demonstrations and allowed the public to experience first hand some of the tasks that come along with being a first responder, as well as gaining some valuable knowledge pertaining to fire prevention, what you can do in the event of a fire, or any other type of emergency situation.

Station 10 had Tanker 10 on display for the public, while hot dogs and hamburgers were provided.

Firefighter Brandon Burkhead demonstrated the proper emergency window exit in the event of a fire.

and just like last year's open house, things started off slow but eventually picked up as more visitors turned out as the day went on.

"Overall we had a good day," Fire Chief Charles Worden said. "We were able to show how we enter and exit a window, which is the proper way for everyone to do it."

According to Chief Worden, each open house has its own theme, and Fire Station 10's theme was fire prevention and exiting a burning building.

"They all use a different theme, but they are not confined to any one particular theme," Chief Worden said. "The window exit just happened to be what the station was demonstrating during the open house."

Seven firefighters, including Lt. Byrd, were on hand, not only for demonstrations, to answer any questions, regarding fire safety.

Because at the end of the day, fire prevention is the focus of the Fire Department.

Sgt. Alan Foster, Sgt. Gilbert Baldwin, Justin Mathis, Holley Kemp, Jimmy Wheeler, and Burkhead's main purpose during the open house is to reduce the risk of death, injury, and property destruction by fire through education of Union County's residents, business managers, and property owners of fire and safety hazards.

Although, Fire Prevention Week isn't until October, the Union County Fire Department uses its open houses as one of the many ways to show that fire prevention is a year-round duty that everyone should take seriously.

This year's Fire Prevention Week's theme will be kitchen fires. UCFD and other departments from across the nation will be spreading the word that more fires start in the kitchen than in any other part of the home, and inform people how to keep cooking fires from starting in the first place.

Fire stations 3 and 4 also will host open houses on Saturday, June 8th, Chief Worden said.

The department is a combination of both paid and volunteer fire fighters.

Chief Worden's staff consists of more than 80 volunteers, who respond 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

lives to serving our country, and the rest will be starting their lives and careers. No matter what we do or where we go after we leave here tonight, we'll always have the lessons and knowledge that high school has given to us. We have each been blessed with talents and special gifts that God has graced us with. It's our job to take a step back and realize what those talents are and to use them for the benefit of those around us. The more you give, the richer you become. Use these gifts to inspire yourself and those around you," said Moore.

Moore used a very appropriate quote by Ralph Waldo Emerson as she addressed her fellow students. "Do not follow where the path may lead. Go, instead, where there is no path and leave a trail."

John Hill, Union Site Administrator, took a moment to brag on Moore. "Noel has the highest grade point average of all the graduates in the MECHS system. She has earned the Zell Miller Scholarship and will receive $4,000 each year to attend North Georgia Technical College. Noel plans to pursue a career in nursing. In June, she and her parents will be honored at a reception at the Governor's Mansion," said Hill.

Fannin County's Jordan Cochran was the system's High Honor graduate.

"Today we have the honor of presenting the Union site and the Fannin site students with their diplomas," said Union site administrator Judy Waldroup. "These diplomas reflect not only the hard work and determination of these students, but the support of their families, community organizations, local businesses, as well as the MECHS staff and Governing Board.

The time had come for the awarding of diplomas. Union's newest site administrator, Roy Perren proudly called out the names of each student after certifying that all students receiving diplomas had met all graduation requirements of the state of Georgia and MECHS.

As Perren called out the names of the graduates and MECHS Superintendent Richard Behrens handed out the diplomas, the flash of cameras, whoops, shouts, applause, and tears commenced.

"This concludes our commencement ceremony. I want to thank each of you for coming out to honor these students. I present to you the 2013 Graduating Class of the Mountain Education Charter High School," said Perren.

With several awards being presented, the most prominent, by far, was the President's Award for Outstanding Academic Excellence.

The purpose of this award is to recognize outstanding academic success in the classroom.

To be eligible for this award, students must earn a grade point average of 90 or higher on a 100-point scale.

This year four students from Union County, each receiving a congratulatory letter from President Barack Obama, excelled at this level. They include Doug Harper, Noel Moore, Kaila Rash, and Kayley Wade.

Alex Thomlinson in concert at Historic Courthouse

Local fiddler Alex Thomlinson will appear in concert on Friday evening, June 7, at 7 PM at Blairsville's Old Courthouse on the Square. Jim White and Joe Matteson, better known as The Buzzard Mountain Boys, will appear as special guests, and Cheryll Thomlinson will join the group on rhythm guitar. The program will present a variety of Old Time and Bluegrass fiddle tunes as well as a selection of Southern Gospel and Appalachian vocal favorites in 4-part harmony. The event is part of the 2013 Summer Concert Series sponsored by the Union County Historical Society.

The Historical Society's Summer Concert Series provided Alex with his start as a performer at the age of nine when he appeared in Sam Ensley's FiddleFest program. Since that time he has won a total of 7 State Championship fiddling awards in three states and has been invited to appear as a guest performer in numerous venues in the southeast. This past summer Alex was privileged to join the Buzzard Mountain Boys playing for Governor & Mrs. Deal and their guests at the Governor's Mansion. Earlier this month he appeared on Dahlonega's Mountain Music & Medicine Show, which will be broadcast on Georgia Public Radio.

His musical interests have expanded to include cho-

Alex Thomlinson's musical arrangement and barbershop quartet singing. He has just completed two fruitful years singing with the Varsity Singers a cappella choir at Lumpkin County High School as well as the men's quartet, enjoying the privilege of performing in All State Chorus and the State Literary Meet. Alex composed the LCHS 2013 senior song and transcribed the piano score and the 4 part choral arrangement for performance by the Varsity Singers at commencement exercises.

This fall Alex will begin his studies in Music Education at Piedmont College with hopes of becoming a high school choral director.

The Summer Concerts are presented by the Union County Historical Society as a public service and to keep alive the tradition of music in The Old Courthouse. There is no admission charge; the musicians donate their time and talents. Voluntary contributions to the restoration fund are always welcomed and appreciated. N0um5Z4JCA

Blairsville Cruisers Veterans Memorial Day Parade Float

Blairsville Cruisers prize winning float

The Blairsville Cruisers were honored to be part of this year's Veteran's Memorial Day Parade in Blairsville. Along with showing off some nice rides in the parade the cruisers also entered a float. The float was a tribute to Arlington National Cemetery with tombstones reminding us that whether or not it was a father, son, mother or even a close friend we all need to be thankful for the sacrifices of our troops both past and present. The cruisers were thrilled to have received 1st place in the civic category for their entry and humbled by the opportunity to show their support to our local veterans and community. N0um5Z1JCA

The Woman's Enrichment Center gives special thanks to Union County

The Woman's Enrichment Center thanks Union County for making our first ever Yard Sale at the Union County Farmer's Market such a huge success. Not only were we overwhelmed with the gracious donations but also with the turnout supporting the event.

The success of the Yard Sale was so encouraging to the ministry of the Woman's Enrichment Center that we plan to make it an annual event. We are already accepting donations for next year's event, which is scheduled for the first weekend in April 2014.

We want to extend special thanks to the Bridges family and friends for all the work they did to pick up and deliver donations and to generally organize the event. We especially appreciated their having the barbecue stand open during the Yard Sale.

The ministry of the Woman's Enrichment Center is available to women of the area for support, encouragement, choosing life for the unborn, making good parenting decisions and to supply material needs for babies and young children.

We have opportunities for volunteer workers; we thankfully receive donations, both financial and material, for the ministry at 218 Jones Street in Blairsville on Tuesdays through Thursdays from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Come by one day and tour our facility. N0um5Z9JCA
